SPECIFICATIONS

FOR HULL AND BOTTOM REPAIR AND MAINTENANCE OF STATE OWNED PATROL BOATS

State of Rhode Island agencies operate a large fleet of patrol boats. These vessels range in size from 8 feet to over 46 feet in length and are powered by both inboard and outboard engines.

Most of these vessels are considered emergency response vessels and all repairs and maintenance must be expedited.

The award shall contain the following provisions:

1. Contract shall include the price, per foot, for:
 - a. Hauling boat
 - b. Blocking boat
 - c. Re- launching boat
 - d. Power washing boat
 - e. Sand blasting boat
 - f. Bottom painting(including hull preparation and materials)

Additionally:

Hourly labor rates

Discount off manufacturer's parts and material price lists

2. Contract price per foot for bottom painting will include the preparation of underwater hull area for re-application of anti-fouling bottom paint appropriate for the hull material being painted. All bottom anti-fouling paint will be of a type that meets all state and federal approval for use. All licensing requirements must be adhered to.

Contract price per foot for bottom painting will also include the price of the anti-fouling paint, primer if needed, and cost to apply primer paint and two (2) coats of anti-fouling paint to underwater hull area.

- a. Lower units of the outboard engines shall be considered underwater hull area for the purpose of antifouling painting and the proper anti-fouling paint shall be used.

- b. The hull shall be painted with antifouling bottom paint up to and including the boot top.
- c. Installation of sacrificial anodes (zincs) for hull, shafts, and attached outboard motors or drives shall be included in contract price for bottom painting.

Bottom cleaning and painting will consist of the following:

Vessels will be hauled, blocked if necessary, re-launched when completed, underwater body and hull power washed and/or sandblasted to remove all marine growth and loose bottom paint. Marine growth shall be removed from all underwater areas of the hull and other appendages such as outboard engine brackets, lower units, speed logs, transducers etc. The hull shall be inspected to determine if there is any damage. Any damage shall be brought to the attention of the representative for determination as to type of repair. Underwater body shall be prepared using best marine practice and two coats of high quality anti-fouling bottom paint applied. Boot top to be painted and remainder of hull inspected for damage. Minor damage to hull (chips, scrapes) shall be repaired using best practice. Extensive damage shall be brought to the attention of the representative for determination as to repair.
