Question for RFP # 7548871

The RFP states:

“Storage needs to provide 56TB or more of usable capacity prior to any compression or deduplication. Due to the high performance and low latency requirements solutions should not be compressing or de-duplicating data.”

Question:

If we can meet or exceed the stated performance requirements with compression or deduplication capabilities, is the customer interested in this option?

Answer: The solution must offer 56TB of usable capacity prior to any deduplicating or compression. Deduplication and compression must not compromise the storage systems performance in any form.

End of questions.
