The University of Rhode Island Police Department is seeking bids on a digital voice logging device for the recording of phone and radio communications. The Specifications we are looking for are below. The winning bid will install and test the equipment and train the system administrator of its use.

We are looking for the following specifications.

- Unit must be self contained. All users must be able to replay any phone calls and radio messages without use of any additional equipment.
- Unit must be mountable in a 19" rack, no higher than 4U.
- Unit must be network capable and able to play any recording from any computer on the network.
- Unit must be able to archive audio onto 20GB or higher tape (DAT or DDS-4) or 100GB or higher removable hard disk drives (IDE, ATA, or SATA).
- Unit must be able to record a minimum of 11 channels and be expandable to 16+ channels.
- Unit cannot have additional wires or devices attached to phones for security and to resist tampering of equipment.
- Unit must be able to hook up to the University Phone System.
- Unit must be black to match other equipment.
- Bid must include installation of all equipment.
- Bidder must provide 1 year of service to all installed equipment.
- Unit must be able to instantly play back any recordings.
- Unit must be able to simultaneously record while playing back.
- Unit must record audio utilizing a compressed recording file format.
- Bidder must provide network client software at no charge.
- The network client software must allow the user to download selected audio to the local workstation for playback at that station or to enable the making of a CD for playback on any standard PC. The file format of the download shall be standard compressed file format.
- Unit must allow the users to label the individual channels with a meaningful channel designator.
